

Autumn Boylan, M.P.H., is the Chief of the System Compliance Section in the Department of Health Care Services Mental Health Services Division (MHSD). Ms. Boylan has been working on systems change and quality improvement efforts in California's public behavioral health system since 2007. She applies this expertise to her work as the manager of the Compliance program and is committed to partnering with counties and stakeholders to achieve positive outcomes for behavioral health clients and their families.

Since May 2016, Ms. Boylan has been co-leading MHSD's efforts to implement the Federal Managed Care [Mega] Regulations and has become a subject matter expert related to managed care.

Ms. Boylan previously worked for the California Institute for Behavioral Health Solutions and the Office of Multicultural Services at the former Department of Mental Health. Her work was primarily focused on advancing strategies to improve health outcomes and achieve health equity for racially, ethnically, linguistically, and culturally diverse communities. She has extensive training and experience with health promotion and prevention; health care reform; capacity building strategies for community-based organizations; and, reducing disparities and improving quality of care for racial, ethnic and LGBT populations.

Ms. Boylan earned a Master of Public Health degree from Drexel University. She also possesses a Bachelor's Degree in Communication Studies, with an emphasis in social movement theory and political communication, from San Francisco State University.
