CULTURAL COMPETENCE SUMMIT XX

SUPPORTING COMMUNITY DEFINED PRACTICES

March 15–16, 2017

Hyatt Vineyard Creek Hotel | 170 Railroad Street | Santa Rosa, CA 95401
Our Overall objectives at this Summit are:

1. Educate and inform attendees about effective strategies for reaching diverse populations.
2. Inspire attendees to try new strategies to reach diverse populations.
3. Highlight successful activities that currently exist throughout the State that reach diverse populations.
Kevin Berthia is a grateful suicide survivor and suicide prevention advocate. Kevin was born with a genetic major depression disorder that he inherited from his biological mother. In 2005 at the age of 22, Kevin attempted to take his own life by jumping from the Golden Gate Bridge. After jumping the railing, he stood on a 4-inch narrow cord about 220 feet in the air. For 96 minutes, with nothing to stop him from falling except a listening ear, Kevin spoke with a first responder who eventually talked him back over the railing.

In May of 2013, 8 years after his attempt at the Golden Gate Bridge, Kevin was invited by The American Foundation for Suicide Prevention (AFSP) to present The Life Savers Award to the officer who talked him back to safety. Kevin spoke publicly for the first time about the events that led up to that day March 11, 2005. Since, his story of HOPE has been featured by multiple media outlets including Nightly News with Brian Williams, ABC Fusion, The Steve Harvey Show, Men’s Health Magazine and People Magazine.

The photo of Kevin standing on the cord was front page of the San Francisco Chronicle, placed on the 75 most iconic photos of the 21st Century, and has since gone viral on social media.

Kevin Berthia is a Grateful Suicide Prevention Advocate, encouraging people to talk through their problems rather than think about ending their lives. Kevin believes that depression may be a part of you, but it is not who you are and that no one knows better the darkness that surrounds suicide than those who have walked in its shadow, or the light that comes from knowing that they might be able to help others avoid similar grief.

Kevin speaks both individually and with the officer who saved his life: Sgt. Kevin Briggs (Ret.), The Guardian of the Golden Gate. Kevin is now the father of three beautiful children and resides with his family in Northern California.

The Honorable Patrick J. Kennedy
Former United States Representative, Rhode Island; Co-Founder, One Mind, and Founder, Kennedy Forum

The Honorable Patrick J. Kennedy is a former member of the U.S. House of Representatives and the nation’s leading political voice on mental illness, addiction, and other brain diseases. During his 16-year career representing Rhode Island in Congress, he fought a national battle to end medical and societal discrimination against these illnesses, highlighted by his lead sponsorship of the Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act of 2008—and his brave openness about his own health challenges.

The son of Senator Edward “Ted” Kennedy, he decided to leave Congress not long after his father’s death to devote his career to advocacy for brain diseases and to create a new, healthier life and start a family. He has since founded the Kennedy Forum, which unites the community of mental health, and co-founded One Mind for Research, a global leader in open science collaboration in brain research. Kennedy is also the co-author of “A Common Struggle,” which outlines both his personal story and a bold plan for the future of mental health in America. Patrick lives in New Jersey with his wife, Amy, and their four children.
KEYNOTE SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES – DAY 2

Javier Rivera-Rosales is the Interim Executive Director of Positive Images, a Santa Rosa non-profit organization that serves the unique needs of LGBTQ+ youth & young adults in Sonoma County. He was born and raised in San Francisco, and learned quickly about the cultural divides in our communities. In 2007 he started is journey as a youth advocate with the San Francisco LGBT Community Center. At the age of 19 he helped create the first youth and young adult Queer Prom in SF. Through outreach, leading workshops, and event planning he was inspired to continue deepening his connection with young people.

Javier believes in building a society in which all people have an opportunity for healthy free expression. He has dedicated the last 11 years to helping youth and young adults express their inner voice to discover the full person they are meant to be. He has worked in the mental health and wellness field for seven years and has worked with Positive Images starting as an outreach coordinator and now director of operations.

His travels abroad have enlightened him about the different ways in which we perceive other cultures and how we try to understand them. When Javier is not working he spends his time dancing, reading and dreaming of traveling to faraway places.

PLENARY SESSION PANEL BIOGRAPHIES

La Roux Pendleton, MPH, is a Health Program Specialist II in the Office of Health Equity at the California Department of Public Health. She is the lead of the California Reducing Disparities Project. This project will award $60 million in funding to reduce mental health disparities in five target populations in California. Most recently, La Roux served as the Diabetes Lead in the Chronic Disease Control Branch. La Roux has been with CDPH for nine years, and has served the department in various capacities. Her previous work in the department includes tobacco control, cancer detection, and coordinated chronic disease prevention. She holds a Master’s in Public Health from Columbia University.

Wm. Jahmal Miller, MHA, is the Deputy Director of the California Department of Public Health’s Office of Health Equity (OHE). Appointed to this role by Governor Jerry Brown in 2013, Miller is the State’s lead advisor on issues related to reducing health and mental health disparities and achieving health equity for all Californians. He is responsible for leading the OHE mission to promote equitable social, economic and environmental conditions to achieve optimal health, mental health and well-being for all.

Miller’s passion for working to achieve health equity comes from his background as a healthcare administrator in a pediatric treatment center, where he witnessed firsthand the troubling health disparities children faced simply because of living conditions that were no fault of their own. Though he has translated his professional passion in many ways, providing those less fortunate with greater opportunities to achieve health has been the common thread.

Miller’s prior work includes managing and overseeing the communications outreach for a $1 billion annual... philanthropic community benefit program, as well as several leadership roles with Sutter Health.

Miller is a graduate of Columbia University in New York City, with a Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree in Psychology. He also holds a Master of Health Administration (MHA) degree from the University of Southern California. In May 2016, Western University of Health Sciences conferred an Honorary Doctorate in Humane Letters (DHL) to Miller, recognizing his lifetime achievements in the field of health and human services. He has completed an Executive Fellowship with the Nehemiah Emerging Leaders Program in conjunction with the American Leadership Forum & CORO. In 2013, Miller received the Leukemia & Lymphoma Man of the Year Nominee for the Greater Sacramento Sierra Region. In 2012 he received the Sacramento Business Journal’s 40-Under-40 Award for Community Service. More recently Miller was named a 2015 “Up and Comer” by Modern HealthCare. Miller has also served on the boards of directors for some of the nation’s most respected organizations, including The California Child Care Referral and Resource Network, The American Heart Association’s Western Region Health Equity Task Force, The American Diabetes Association, and Ronald McDonald House.

Miller currently serves on the Pacific and Southwest Regional Health Equity Council and as a board member of the National Association of State Offices of Minority Health, the California Telehealth Network and the Faith Fellowship Community Church, respectively. Miller is a native of Sacramento, California and is a proud father to two young daughters.

Cheryl Grills, PhD, is a clinical psychologist but with a current emphasis in Community Psychology. She is Professor of Psychology at Loyola Marymount University, national past President of The Association of Black Psychologists, and founder and director of Imoyase Community Support Services. Dr. Grills was the Co-Executive Director of the LA County Blue Ribbon Commission on Child Protection and continues to serve as a Los Angeles County Commissioner appointed by the LA County Board of Supervisors (2010) to the Sybil Brand Commission for Institutional Inspections which focuses on conditions and practices within county jails, probation and correctional facilities and group homes for children. Her research interests, publications and projects include African-centered models of treatment engagement with African Americans; substance abuse prevention and treatment, community psychology; community mental health, prevention, and action research and program evaluation services to community based organizations engaged in social action, community change and prevention on a host of issues. Her current work in the area of racial stress focuses on the development of community based self-help models to address the negative effects of racism on people of African ancestry in the US and globally. She recently completed a 6 year project on childhood obesity evaluating environmental change strategies to address obesity in communities of color. She is principal investigator on several social justice projects related to community health, education reform, mentoring African American youth, disproportionality in the child welfare system, homelessness and substance abuse prevention. She is currently principle investigator on a multi-year CDC REACH grant to reduce health disparities in predominantly African American and Latino communities in two South Los Angeles neighborhoods.
using community organizing and partnerships with health clinics and the Department of Public Health to educate and empower residents in the implementation of locally tailored strategies to increase public safety, physical activity, and linkages to quality health care services.

Dr. Grills consults nationally on a number of issues particularly regarding matters of cultural and social competence, multiculturalism and Africentric interventions. She has also studied under traditional medical practitioners in Ghana, Nigeria, and Senegal and is a registered member of the Ghana National Association of Traditional Healers.

MY JOURNEY: MAKING MENTAL HEALTH ESSENTIAL HEALTH

Patrick J. Kennedy, Former US Rep (D-RI), Founder - The Kennedy Forum, Co-Founder – One Mind
Since his earliest days in public service, Patrick J. Kennedy believed that mental health should be a national priority. After 16 years in Congress, and countless bills passed, one stands out among the rest for the impact it has on the lives of all Americans – the Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act of 2008. This bill ensures that mental health is treated on-par with physical health, breaking down decades-old practices in the health care system that kept those two areas separate from one another, often with dire consequences. This presentation will focus on the necessary steps that will fulfill President Kennedy’s vision of ensuring the best possible mental well-being for every American. Discussion topics will include implementation of the Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act, ways to accelerate advances in diagnostics, treatments and cures, and how we can integrate mental health into the mainstream of American medicine. The result will be improved outcomes for patients and lower costs for everyone.

CULTURAL Y BIENESTAR: TRADITIONAL HEALING
AS A COMMUNITY DEFINED PRACTICE

Tracy Hazelton, MPH, Division Director, Mental Health Services Act, Alameda County Behavioral Health Care Services
Juan Cuba, Support Group, La Clinica de La Raza
Patricia Royball, Supervisor Cultura y Bienestar, La Clinica de La Raza
Ernesto Olmos, Traditional Healer

La Clinica de La Raza, in partnership with Alameda County Behavioral Health Care Services, implements a prevention and early intervention program called Cultura y Bienestar that promotes mental health and wellness for the Latino community through a braided model of promotores, mental health specialists and traditional healers. This comprehensive, practice-based model, is theoretically grounded on research that indicates that within the Latino community signs and symptoms of mental health challenges are reduced when there’s a connection to cultural roots and traditions. Our presentation will highlight the use of traditional medicine and healers as a way to promote mental health, reduce stigma and serve as a platform to compliment western medicine for the overall goal of increased health, wellness and quality of life.

THE LOS ANGELES COUNTY MENTAL HEALTH ACADEMY:
SUPPORTING THE NEEDS OF CULTURALLY DIVERSE COMMUNITIES

Adrienne Cedro-Hament, LCSW, Board Liaison, LA County Department of Mental Health
Ann-Marie Yamada, PhD, Associate Professor, University of Southern California

Over a decade of project development and initiatives by the Los Angeles County Department of Mental Health have supported the development of promising practices such as the Mental Health Academy to enhance the capacity for faith-based organizations to offer de-stigmatized support to individuals with mental illness. This presentation will introduce the program rollout, initial findings and lessons learned.

GROWING A BILINGUAL WORKFORCE

Musetta Pezearce, Kaiser Permanente Nursing Supervisor, Adjunct Faculty Health Careers Academy, Santa Rosa Junior College
Wanda Tapia, Executive Director/CEO, Latino Service Providers
Amy Faulstich, Mental Health Services Act Coordinator, Sonoma County Behavioral Health

The need for a bilingual workforce in California is great. This workshop will demonstrate how a County partnered with a well-respected, small grassroots organization to implement strategies to target, support, and assist bilingual and bicultural staff to join the behavioral health workforce. Also, how this small grassroots organization has gone further to create a workforce pipeline for high school students to consider behavioral health a career choice.

HEALTHIER COMMUNITY ARTS INITIATIVE: Community Inclusion

John M Black, Founding Member, CEO, Operations Manager, Peer Recovery Art Project
Rachel Cross, Program Contractor, Youth Program Development: Arts from the Heart

Peer Recovery Art Project is a community service arts organization, founded in 2009 by a group of mental health consumer visionaries who believed there can be a place in our community for everyone. We gathered together as artists, as special event coordinators and now as Mod Spot, partnering with Stanislaus Magazine, Modesto View, Project Yes and Arts for Freedom program as small business developers, not because of an illness or common diagnostic labeling but simply for the love of the arts. Peer support, social networking, and community service arts organization is our foundation of expertise.

STIGMA OF MENTAL ILLNESS: A BARRIER FOR ASIAN INDIAN WOMEN SEEKING TREATMENT

Surinder Gill, PhD, Clinical Support Services Manager, River Oak
Jagdeep Nesbit, School Counselor, Mt. Eden High School

Asian Indian families, especially women, rarely seek professional help for mental illness. The stigma is intense. Providers and families alike need better understanding of how providers can help. You will benefit from insider perspectives based in both personal experience and research, on how to engage and work with Asian Indian women.

FAMILY PARTNERS: BRIDGES TO FAMILIES, SUPPORTERS OF COMMUNITY

Jennifer Tuipulotu, Mental Health Family Services Coordinator, Contra Costa Behavioral Health Services
Janet Costa, Family Partner-Team Lead, Contra Costa Behavioral Health Services
Paula Serrano-Cardenas, Family Partner, Contra Costa Behavioral Health Services

Family Partners have strong connections to the community and are key to culturally competent, family-focused, family-driven services. A panel of Family Partners will share their role in mental health treatment and how cultural humility promotes competency when encouraging families to engage and remain informed when addressing their loved one’s needs.

3:00PM – 3:15PM  BREAK
WORKSHOPS SESSION 2

SUICIDE WITHIN CHILDREN AND ADOLESCENTS - CULTURAL FACTORS TO CONSIDER

Luis M. García, PsyD, Vice President of Quality Care, Cultural Diversity and Outcomes, Pacific Clinics

Empowering individuals, families and the community is vital to the reduction and risk of suicidal behaviors within Latino children and adolescents. Suicide shares risk and protective factors with mental and substance use disorders, trauma, and other types of violence, such as bullying and domestic violence. Cultural factors play a big role in treatment and recovery for these families.

EMOTIONAL EMANCIPATION CIRCLESSM - IMPLEMENTED IN CALIFORNIA: HEALING FOR COMMUNITIES FOR AFRICAN ANCESTRY

Kristee Haggins, PhD, Senior Associate, California Institute for Behavioral Health Solutions, (CIBHS)
Theopía Jackson, PhD, Bay Area Chapter President/Director, Department of Humanistic & Clinical Psychology, The Association of Black Psychologists, Inc./Saybrook University
Cheryl Grills, PhD, Past President of ABPs/Professor, The Association of Black Psychologist/Loyola Marymount University
Alondra L. Thompson, LCSW, EECSM-CPI Facilitator/Participant (Rosetta Wellness Center Team)
Tjuana Smylie, Graduate Student, Saybrook University

An introduction to the Emotional Emancipation Circles℠ (EECs), an innovative grassroots healing circle and community defined practice designed by and for people of African ancestry will be provided. The EEC℠-California Professional Initiative - a collaboration between Community Healing Network (CHN), the Association of Black Psychologists, Inc. (ABPs) and the California Institute for Behavioral Health Solutions (CIBHS) will be introduced. The Community Development Team model which supported the implementation and sustainability of the EEC℠ across the state will be described and preliminary outcome data of the EEC℠ conducted in California will be provided. In summary, workshop participants will learn about the rationale for the EEC℠, hear feedback regarding the impact of the EEC℠, hear directly from a circle facilitator about their experience, have a brief experiential experience similar to participating in an EEC℠, and identify how to be an EEC℠ ally whether or not they are a person of African ancestry.
AUNTIES & UNCLE'S PROJECT: “HEALING CALIFORNIA NATIVE COMMUNITIES THROUGH MEANINGFUL AND COLLABORATIVE PARTNERSHIP”

Cecilia Dawson, Aunties and Uncles Project Coordinator, Sonoma County Indian Health, Inc.
Naomi Atchely, Tribal Members Service Coordinator, Stewart Point - Kashia Band of Pomo Indians
Nelson Jim, LMFT, Behavioral Health Director, Sonoma County Indian Health Project, Inc.

This presentation reviews critical community partnership development of the Aunties and Uncles Project (AUP) of Sonoma County Indian Health Project, Inc., a community- and cultural-based intervention and skills building CDEP model. The focus population of AUP includes seven local Pomo and Wappo tribes of Sonoma County. The AUP consists of community-level suicide prevention and mental health stigma reduction; youth tutor; and depression screening. Strategies for restoring and developing trust & integration of cultural and community strengths will be highlighted.

TRANSLATION OF INSTRUMENT FOR DEPRESSION, ANXIETY, AND PTSD IN LAOTIAN, CAMBODIAN, AND VIETNAMESE: REPORT FROM THE FIELD

Natalie T. Ah Soon, MPH, Project Coordinator, RAMS, Inc. Asian and Pacific Islander Mental Health Collaborative
Tai Chang, Associate Professor, California School of Professional Psychology at Alliant International University

The study aimed to develop and translate a screening instrument for depression, anxiety, and PTSD for Asian American and Pacific Islander communities that could be administered by non-clinical staff in community settings. Laotian, Cambodian, and Vietnamese community agencies were consulted to tailor the instrument insuring cultural appropriateness.
